

ASH Global Research Award

Get support for your hematology research, training, or collaborative projects.

The Global Research Award is designed to support the career advancement of a future leader in the field, increase hematology capacity, and nurture global collaboration. The award will provide support for training as well as basic, translational, patient-oriented clinical, or outcomes-based hematology research.

Applicants must be ASH International members, International Associate members, or Active or Associate members residing in Mexico. Visit www.hematology.org/membership to review membership eligibility requirements and deadlines and to apply.

Not a member? Applicants from lower and middle income countries (per the United Nations Human Development Index) can apply for a one-time, needs-based grant to fund the cost of a one-year ASH membership.

Visit www.hematology.org/global-research for more information about the award and the application process.

